Wreckers

I watched them tearing a building down,
A gang of men in a busy town;
With a ho-heave-ho- and a lusty yell,
They swung a beam and a side wall fell.

I asked the foreman, "Are these men skilled,
And the men you'd hire if you had to build?"
He gave me a laugh, and said, "No, indeed!
Just common labor is all I need.

I can easily wreck in a day or two
What builders have taken years to do."
I thought to myself as I went my way,
Which of these roles have I tried to play?

Am I a builder who works with care,
Measuring life by the rule and square?
Am I shaping my deeds to a well-made plan,
Patiently doing the best I can?

Or am I a wrecker who walks the town,
Content with the labor in tearing down?
Says I to myself as I grumbled and growled:
"I am sick of the church"
— then how I scowled!"

"The members unfriendly, the sermon too long;
In fact it seems that everything's wrong.
I don't like the singing, the church's a disgrace
For signs of neglect are all over the place.

I'll quit going there! I won't give a dime;
I can make better use of my money and time."
Then my conscience says to me
"The trouble is you're too blind to see."

That the church reflects you, whatever it be;
Then come, pray and serve cheerfully.
Stop all your fault-finding and boost it up strong;
You'll find you will be happy
and proud to belong.

Be friendly, and willing, and sing as you work,
For churches aren't built by members who shirk.
